GOLF TEAM LOSES BUT GAINS

GOLF

When one has an abundance of youth, mistakes are to be expected. And when one is limited in the vital necessity of practice, the finer points of the game are often crude in appearance. Such has been said by many experts in the field of sports. However, when one is limited to such a degree as might render the necessity of youth, one usually expects, well, mistakes and often misfortune.

Such was the case of the 1971 version of our Golf team. Under the leadership of a new coach, Mr. Shields, the team lost all of their matches this year.

Dave McConnell this year's number one man is apparently lost for next year due to an arm injury, requiring an operation.

Jack Adams, a consistent player, and Tom Donofrio are the only seniors. As so often is said, "Wait till next year," is, in this case, the appropriate phrase to launch next year's Golf team hopes. For next year just might be the best Golf team in years if not one of the best ever to come out of S.H.S.

FLASHES SHOW CLASS

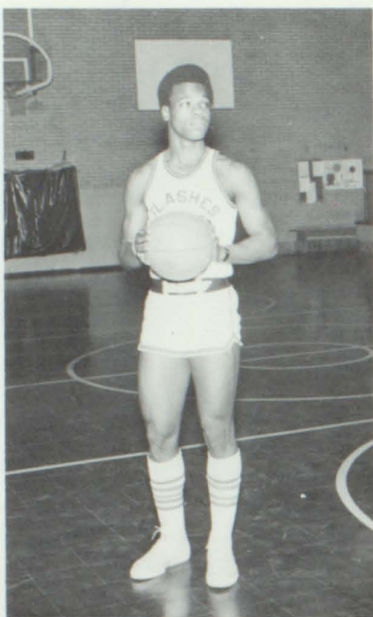

The Flashes school colors — blue and gold, signify two feelings that were expressed this past season of basketball by our Blue and Gold Flashes. The blue stands for the disappointment obviously felt by our school when Swissvale was removed in the playoff game against West Mifflin South. The game was unfortunately an offnight for the Flashes because, in no way did the one-sided battle reflect upon the two teams other encounters. In the two previous engagements, Swissvale admittedly lost them also, but the margin of points was not even in contrast let alone in comparison.

However luckily for the Flashes, gold outshines blue anyway. And the Flashes did just that — outshining and outplaying their opponents during the whole season. The Flashes showed their potential by compiling a most impressive 10-2 section record. Even though they didn't repeat as champs, Swissvale possessed more valuable things than wins. These valuables being skills and virtues demonstrated by a group of individuals playing together as a team. You name it, the Flashes just about showed it. The values ranged from human qualities as pride and dignity to balance and good sportsmanship. If they weren't born with these gifts, then the boys acquired them through constant practice and play. The consistency of the team to play heads up basketball was a dominating factor in the goal to respectability. Probably the most overlooked aspect of every game won by the Flashes was the fact that the scores weren't overdone. By pulling his starters Mr. Bonacci showed decency not to run up the score of the game to make their foes look exceptionally bad and is a pleasant courtesy expressed by this Swissvale team. The acceptance of pressure situations with a calm and casual approach was a most noticeable attribute also. A well-balanced attack guided by Mr. Bonacci was a contribution in itself. Juggling with a few subs, the coach kept the boys loose and unravelled. The starting five handled with care the fragile foes by merely using physical strength plus mental awareness. Sharpshooting and rebounding talents were combined to add to the luster and brilliance of the Flashes during their heroic march to the road of success. The fighting Flashes found and flourished on the winning path. The smell of victory was sensed by all. So let us hope the sweet smelling aroma is carried on till next year when Swissvale will be looking for bigger and better things.

The girl's basketball team of S.H.S. showed a great deal of team spirit and effort during their season of 1971-72. Under the direction of coach, Mr. Pat O'Reilly and manager, Marian "Squatty" Iovino, the girls did a tremendous job than the previous year. Hard practices and few injuries made the team a great success, despite a tough schedule. Jackie Lavrinc, captain of the Varsity, was presented with the "Most Valuable Player Award" at the Second Annual Sports Banquet in April, 1972. Jackie was a fine leader on and off the floor and her strong competitiveness made her a great basketball player. Jackie Benson, the top scorer, had an average of ten points a game with Karen "Briefy" Cefranik trailing behind with eight points. The team ended their season with 7-3-1 for Varsity and 7-3 for Junior Varsity. Congratulations to a fine team and season.

*SUDDEN DEATH

Although sporting a so-so exhibition record, a sleeping giant was awoken much to the dismay of many teams entered in the W.P.I.A.L. tournament.

Coached by Mr. Persin and captained by Bill Fazio and the Most Valuable Player, Len Cunic, the Flashes' Volleyball team attained a status of notability as well as respectability.

All three exhibition victories were over South Allegheny. Their four setbacks were two to Churchill and two losses to Steel Valley.

Throughout the exhibition trail, Coach Persin searched for the winning combination for success keying toward the W.P.I.A.L. tournament.

Hampered throughout the entire season with a lack of height, Swissvale took to the role of agile performers covering the floors with a curtain of bodies.

The most important attribute for any athlete, no matter what the sport is, is speed. Speed made its presence known in the team's play from beginning to end. Considering most, if not all, gyms were larger than ours (the High School gym), speed and agility were mandatory.

The W.P.I.A.L. tournament was held at the spacious Penn Hills High School. An entire day was needed for the event. A ten minute time limit was placed on each game.

Fox Chapel, Swissvale's first opponent, disposed of the Flashes in relatively easy fashion. Perhaps the tallest team in the tournament, Fox Chapel showed it to the best of their ability.

The desire for victory was evident as the Flashes rebounded to overtake Shaler in sudden death overtime. Beaver, next in the path of destruction played well but again sudden death was required and Swissvale was again victorious, this time vaulting towards the finals.

Coach Persin feels that waiting for the outcome of Bell Vernon's game took the momentum away, while Bell Vernon fresh from victory, remained at an emotional peak. Bell Vernon won the championship game from Swissvale, but we, as well as the team, can be proud of a gallant team effort from beginning to the end.

GOOD TEAM—BAD RECORD

To be some kind of success in playing ball, the participant involved has to get himself up for each particular contest. Before gametime, the ballplayer has to get himself up physically, but more important mentally — to reason out in his mind that he can beat his opponent and play good ball. At the same time is the kind of optimism needed to carry out those two goals. This type of thinking is especially put into use when the opposition is of notable status. To best clarify what is being said is exemplified by the Swissvale High Baseball team. The Flashes most impressive victories were against the toughest in our section — Penn Hills and Gateway. Swissvale obviously played their best baseball against these two ballclubs and looked like real winners. But such was not the case when an unexpected 4-6 season mark scarred Swissvale's chances of being a consistent winner. The most logical and acceptable reason for the Flashes' downfall appears to be the lack of offensive punch and hard luck. Untimely errors, bad calls, and weak hitting all contributed in part to the deficiency of the team. Lack of experience made its presence known when a freshman and sophomore broke into the lineup. God's blessing was amongst the team because of an empty list of injuries. However, one aspect overlooked by all occurred during the season — rainouts. Of the six setbacks suffered by our baseball team, four were played on make-up dates due to rainouts on the regularly scheduled days. Which means that the ballplayers weren't necessarily psyched up for the games as they would have been if played on those scheduled days. If that was the hidden flaw undetected by everyone involved, well let's hope for fewer rainouts next season and better luck. With more than half the squad returning for the '73 season, things can only get better.
