

Scholastic's Rising Voices

This collection celebrates the voices of the historically underrepresented by exploring the fictional and real-life stories of girls in STEAM and people of color.

It is made possible by a generous contribution from Woodland Hills School District.

Click on the cover image of each book to see a description of the book and its availability in the library catalog.

